

Decision Making Skills Training

Who Would Benefit

For leaders who want to solve problems and deal with issues in a realistic, objective manner and by making considered choices. Who want to make decisions that consider personal impact and how they will affect others and the overall impact on the organisation, combining thinking and intuition.

Course Overview

This workshop is focused on learning more about effective leadership through problem solving from a personal and a team perspective. It explores how people take in information and how information is processed. The latest ideas and thinking in neuroscience recognising how this links and applies to intuition will be covered together with the way that differing perceptions impact upon decision making.
